Economic symposium is informed

Bank prexy sees 'no dark spots..' in Hancock County's '78 prospects

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Leo W. Seal, Jr., president, Hancock Bank, said Thursday, "...1978 showed no dark spots for Hancock County."

Seal was speaking before a capacity audience of business and civic leaders from Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Pearl River Counties at the 12th Annual Hancock Bank Annual Economic Symposium.

Entrance fees eyed as $ means at McLeod Park

The Hancock County Park Commission, managers of McLeod Park on Texas Flat Road, are considering the establishment of a sliding scale of fees for both entrance and activities at the park.

The commission met in informal session with representatives of the board of supervisors this week, to iron out the direction wished of them by the board, and the extent of their authority and autonomy.

Present from the commission were: A.C. Jones, chairman; Mary G. Callier, secretary-treasurer; Perry Gibson, Hildon Shaw, and Uless Bergeron, Jr. Supervisors at the session included: Alton A. Kellar, president, Beat 2; Sam Pernicaro, Beat 4; James Travira, (PARK FEES - Page 4)

Seal said this is the combined opinions of 40 or 50 people in the business world interviewed in the area during the past few weeks. They didn't see anything disturbing, and everything is looking 'on the up' in Hancock. The other counties have a few dark spots, but the bright spots overshadow them, Seal said.

Also speaking at the symposium were: Richard A. Stuckey, assistant chief economist, DuPont Company; Jerry Hlass, manager, NASA - National Space Technology Laboratories, Hancock County; William H. Hagerman, vice-president, manufacturing, North America, Pay Line Group of International Harvester. The welcome address was given by Donald Sutter, chairman of the board, Hancock Bank.

Concerning industry in Hancock County, Seal said, "Last year was the greatest ever, with five new industries opening in the last eight months. There are now several real good prospects for small industries in Hancock."

"A Bay builder told me this week, if he had 15 houses ready today, in the $35-50,000 range, he could sell them before the weekend was over," Seal said in his comments about real estate in Hancock County. He also added that Diamondhead is still getting good play.

"The cold weather in the Mid-West resulted in people moving into the Coastal area. It was so cold, so they gave up and came down here."

"All of the counties represented here today feel very little housing is available. There is a strong demand for houses in the $35-50,000 range. Activity in subdivisions in Hancock County and Pass Christian is primarily from New Orleans people," Seal stated.

Hancock County was the only county Seal referred to in relation to oil exploration, saying, "In 1977, there were 26 wells drilled in Hancock without any dry holes. All were not good enough for production."

Four more have been drilled in 1978, and gas and oil is being found in all kinds of formations. The thing that is surprising to geologists is that Hancock County has the biggest formation area of all oil and gas fields in the State of Mississippi."

Seal, switching to another area of Coastal growth, then commented on the construction of a 12-14 story office (NO DARK SPOTS - Page 4)

Space facility manager paints future bright

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Jerry Hlass, manager of NASA National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County, on Thursday amplified the economic stability and growth factors for Hancock County during the Hancock Bank's 12th Annual Economic Symposium at the Broadwater Beach Hotel.

Hlass spoke on the new role of NSTL, its great diversity of collocations, the economic impact offered by NSTL, and its effect on the growth of Hancock and its surrounds.

He said that at the start of 1978 the population of NSTL was 2800, a count that should size to approximately 3,300 by the end of the year.

Airport sewage disposal plan earns citizen protest

by EDGAR PEREZ

Disposal of treated waste waters on the Mississippi Gulf Coast presents a unique, recurring and serious problem for the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission.

Joe Stone, director of the commission's permit board, told citizens and officials at a public hearing in Bay St. Louis Thursday that alternatives to dumping the wastes in rivers and bays on the Coast are prohibitively expensive.

"So where do you put waste waters when you don't have a Mississippi River, a Leaf River or a Pearl River to dump them in?" Stone questioned.

"Where do you put it when all you've got are oyster beds, shrimp breeding grounds, and rivers you ski on or swim in?" he continued.

"Do you put it in the Sound, the Jourdan, the Bay, or the bayous?" he asked.

Stone said there is someone with valid objections to selection of any area on the Coast as the best place to dispose of treated sewage.

"It possibly can go on the land, but then becomes a matter of economics—it's normally much more expensive to use those methods," he pointed out.

"But let's face it, we've got to find some place to put it if we are going to flush the toilets," he added.

Stone, who is also director of the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission, emphasized he feels decisions on sewerage disposal areas and treatment methods are "strictly local matters."

Winter woes hold Pass school attendance down

Colds, flu, and other sicknesses have all played a part in holding the average daily attendance (ADA) figure of the Pass Christian Municipal School System down to 1326 of a total enrollment of 1448 during the fifth school month.

"This commission does not feel it has the responsibility to tell an industry where it can locate—that's a local responsibility to be shouldered by Boards of Supervisors and government bodies like that," the state official stated.

Stone and Dr. Richard Leard of Biloxi, also a member of the commission's permit board and director of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, conducted a two-hour hearing Thursday at the City-County Library on a permit application submitted by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

The harbor commission, operators of Stennis International Airport and its adjacent industrial park, is seeking the permit to construct a $200,000 sewerage treatment plant to serve the facilities.

At this time, the industrial park houses the Hancock County Vocational-Technical School, is the site of an overhead door manufacturing facility under construction, with a major label printing plant projected.

The permit application provides for the discharge of treatment plant effluent into a drainage ditch which eventually flows into the Jourdan River.

Engineers for Advanced Development, under contract to the port commission, said alternatives to the discharge flow would be through Bayou LaCroix or through lakes dredged during construction of Interstate-10.

Stone emphasized it would be "erroneous and actually illegal" for him to comment at this time on whether the proposals in question are "good or bad."

But he did note the treatment plant proposed is "darn sophisticated."

The permit board director said Thursday's testimony, recorded by commission secretary Elizabeth Fuller of Jackson and tape recorded, would be carefully considered by the full permit board before any decision is made.

In addition to Stone and Leard, permit board members include Jack Pepper, director of the Mississippi Board of Water Commissioners; Joe Brown, chief of environmental health for the State Board of Health; and Clyde Davis, director of the State Oil and Gas Board, all of Jackson.

Stone noted that should the treatment plant become a reality, ultimate responsibility for monitoring its effluent through the years will rest with the MAWPCC.

He acknowledged the commission is the proper body to receive citizen complaints if an effluent is suspected of not meeting commission standards.

Mike Smith of Advanced Development and Wilson Webre, director of the port commission, emphasized the permit application specifies the treatment facility will discharge domestic type waste water.

Smith said the outflow would follow the same path now taken by the discharge from a small treatment plant currently in operation at the Vocational-Technical School.

Bob Lyons, affiliated with Breath's Boats and Motors in Bay St. Louis and (SEWAGE - Page 4)

Superintendent LeRoy Lizana told his board this week that the enrollment is a decline of 26 compared to the same period during the 1976-77 school year, but the ADA was three above the comparable.

He said the absentee rate is being monitored on a daily basis.

The board voted to approve a Title I program funded under PL 874, in the amount of $7,409.

The project will provide salaries of five teachers, aides, personnel to be used by the system in grades two through six. Their duties will, in the main, be to assist the classroom teacher in giving guidance and special tutoring to slow readers.

Expected to be operational by March 1, the project will run through to the end of the school year.

Stewart-Sneed-Hewes of Gulfport, on the basis of their having submitted the lowest and best proposal, were awarded the insurance coverage on all school buildings.

The three year policy gives the district coverage in the amount of $4,362,372, for fire, extended coverage, vandalism, and malicious mischief, with a $5,000 deductible, for an annual premium of $15,443.

The board accepted the bid of George Hopkins at $29,093, for renovation and repair work on various schools throughout the system. Other bidders were: Roy Anderson, $32,168; Mandels, $30,555.

The work, to be completed in 90 days, covers: repair of roofing and other (PASS WOES - Page 4)

Bartram Trail endorsed; historians tell routing

Louis Fernandez, president, Hancock County Historical Society, received the endorsement of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, in his society's effort to promote the Bartram Trail.

Fernandez said the only cost to the county would be the erection of some highway and route markers, permitting tourists to follow the trail.

County historian Peggy Gibbons read a letter into the record from the Historical Society outlining the trail's origins and its value to the county.

She said the trail will bring economic benefit to the preservation of the physical environment for cultural, education, recreation, and travel for all persons who are either permanent residents of the county or those who travel here.

The trail is to honor the travels of William Bartram, a 30-year-old naturalist from Philadelphia, Pa., who left Mobile, Ala., in the summer of 1777 "on board a large trading boat," the property of a French gentleman, and commanded by him (he being the general interpreter for the Choctaw nation) on his return to his plantations (TRAIL - Page 4)

MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE
The Mississippi College Office of Admissions will be hosting two "Preview Days" to give students in the Bay St. Louis area an opportunity to view a typical day on the Mississippi College campus. Students will have a choice of attending a "Preview Day" on either Wednesday, March 29 or Friday, April 14. According to Mrs. Lois Ann Lewis, Director of Admissions, there will be no special activities since the objective of the program is to give the students a realistic view of college. Students will have an opportunity to attend two classes of their choice, meet with faculty members to discuss educational objectives, meet some students and enjoy lunch in the cafeteria as guest of the college. For further information, contact the Office of Admissions, Mississippi College, Clinton, Miss., 39058.

Druggists promote safe pill bottles

Pharmacists throughout Mississippi have a message to deliver to all those patients who complain about the inconvenience of safety caps on prescription drugs and other potentially dangerous products.

The pharmacists are starting a publicity drive to emphasize the value of child resistant containers in preventing accidental poisonings. The campaign will be conducted by the Bureau of Pharmaceutical Services at The University of Mississippi in conjunction with the Mississippi State Pharmaceutical Association.

"We want to impress upon the public the importance of poison prevention packaging," said Kerby Ladner, director of the Bureau of Pharmaceutical Services at Ole Miss.

"One of the biggest aims of the program will be alerting parents to the dangers of accidental poisonings, and to the values of poison prevention packaging," Ladner said.

"The small amount of inconvenience of safety caps is a low price to pay for saving a child's life," he said. "We want to campaign to bring the message that prevention 365 days a year is the best solution to accidental poisonings."

The publicity program, funded by the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission, will be in effect until June. Special emphasis will be placed on poison prevention packaging during packaging," said Kerby Ladner, director of the Bureau of Pharmaceutical Services at Ole Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter wed in double ring ceremony

Miss Michele Ellen Vicknair, daughter of Mrs. Muriel Blanchette of Clermont Harbor and the late Robert J. Vicknair Jr., and Paul Edward Porter, III, of Bay St. Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Porter, Jr. of Mobile, Ala., formerly of Bay St. Louis, were married Saturday afternoon, Feb. 11, at First Presbyterian Church, Bay St. Louis.

Rev. William Brown assisted by Rev. Terry Crimm performed the double ring ceremony.

Arrangements of white carnations, fuji chrysanthemums, baby's breath and greenery decorated the sanctuary. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Ingrid Ling, organist.

Given in marriage by her brother Robert J. Vicknair, III, the bride wore a deep candlelight muted floral cotton voile gown fashioned with a softly gathered skirt ending in a ruffle flounce; a matching lace-edged short jacket featuring cap sleeves and self tie at the neckline completed her ensemble. She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, baby's breath and ming fern and wore a headpiece of fresh flowers with sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Karen Johnson of Waveland was matron of honor, and Sam Piazza, Waveland, attended the groom as best man. Ushers were Clay Wagner, Bay St. Louis, and Ryan Vicknair, brother of the bride, Clermont Harbor.

The matron of honor wore a blue gown featuring a tiny pink floral design. She carried a nosegay of miniature pink carnations and baby's breath.

Letters to the Editor

Teen dream

The Editor,
It is very alarming to realize how many of your people are yearning for parental help.

For you that took time to read the comments from these kids in the last two issues of this paper, I am sure that most of you share their plight just as I do. Unfortunately, it is only shared with a few words or inward feeling.

I feel sure that lots were filled with sorrow to read that one little girl has such a dim outlook on life by saying that a youth center didn't concern her, nor did she care whether or not one was ever built, so that she and others of her age could participate in any sort of decent recreation in the surrounding neighborhood. Without much doubt her environmental surroundings are far below normal and she "really" needs help.

Then there was one boy who already has the attitude of too many adults: "I have, or I am going to get mine...to Hell with you!"

This boy's negative attitude says in part, "Why build a youth center here, we can go to the Fiesta in Biloxi, and any way by time it is built I will be too old to participate."

In other words, to tie in with the attitude of too many adults, "I am the only one that matters!"

Knowing this young man, I am sure that he couldn't afford the price of a good time even if he got the chance to go to Biloxi, because those people are operating for the sole purpose of the most profit at the least expense - they have to stay in business.

Some were concerned about the corruption that might prevail which was common around the past center. Mixed in with this fear there were lots of desirable ideas and suggestions.

I agree that the membership fee would be well accepted and a wonderful way to finance or help finance miscellaneous upkeep. To mention one more method of financing operations I would like to suggest that any one member or otherwise, who thinks it smart to "tear up the joint" would be made to repair all damages and put an equal amount in the general fund for the first offense. For the second offense double the donation along with the replacement. I just bet in no time short there would be very few first offenders and no seconds.

Sure this would require around the clock protection but I feel sure it wouldn't be very hard to come up with enough voluntary aid for a day time help. I also feel that the city would furnish auxiliary night time protection.

I don't think you teenagers have much idea of the initial monetary cost of such an undertaking, but I'll bet that if you really get out and start putting on some "loving pressure" you could easily find three or four hundred grown ups that would be interested in donating a small amount for a long time, wealthy - our children, our grand children, your children - investment.

I would like to be the first to make a $100 donation. One hundred dollars multiplied by 400 people equals $40,000. Do I hear 399 more Yeas?

Earl Lizana
311 Carroll Ave.
Bay St. Louis

P.S. The J.C.'s are good leaders, but they need help.

Youth Center comment

February 17, 1978

Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:
I agree a Youth Center is needed. The location should be where they have the freedom of a little of the right kind of noise, restricting alcohol, dope, cigarettes, and gambling.

A large sign should be hung on both the inside and outside walls reading "God sees and hears everybody. He knows what you are thinking."

To parents: This is not to take the responsibility from the home, but to help the parents in the home. I pray you consider my idea.

Mrs. A. Grace Pope
Pearlington, Miss.

Honorary citizens...

Waveland's Honorary Citizens will be listed by Barbara Rappold, long-time City Clerk serving under the administration of Mayor John Longo. Barbara will contribute a by-line article for the Heritage Edition to appear May 28. An efficient clerk and a true friend, we welcome Mrs. Rappold's contribution. Your old photographs and information of historical value concerning Hancock County are needed. Please call Joe Pilet, 467-5551.

Waveland pound

February 22, 1978
Waveland MS 39576

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, MS 39576

Dear Sir:

This is written to all the residents of Waveland; animal lovers and animal lovers.

I recently was given the phone number for the Dog Catcher by the Waveland Police Department, and was told twice by him that he'd be out later since he was getting ready to go to work (at another job). On the third call a woman answered and I told her I was calling for the Dog Catcher to come pick up a stray I was holding. She told me to just take the dog out to the "Animal Shelter" and proceeded to give me directions to it. What I found out was described as a "SHELTER."

Every citizen of Waveland; weekenders, summer people, anyone who spends any money here should go out there and see just what their taxes are paying $200 a month for (it's a part-time position). It's not only a disgrace to the town, but the county and the entire state of Mississippi as well.

The place is filthy beyond description; no evidence of food having been there and dead animals in boxes and the stalls. It would be more humane to hit the poor things over the head with a brick or shoot them than to leave them to starve in that filth!

But, since the city pays out $200 a month for the "services" of a Dog Catcher; Animal Control Officer, whatever they so classify this as; they certainly must allocate funds for food for the animals. If so, where is it going? Is the land that this squalid building on donated or is it leased? WE would like to know since our taxes are being used, or more appropriately - ABUSED!

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moody
Waveland, Mississippi

Stennis writes on ammo plant

UNITED STATES SENATE
Washington, D.C. 20510
February 15, 1978

Seacoast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

As you know, construction was recently started on the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County. It was my pleasure to participate in the ground breaking ceremonies conducted in early January.

I know of your interest in this project and I'm sure you share with me great expectations about what this new facility will mean to the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast area. Construction of this plant will provide hundreds of jobs over the next few years and once it is in operation about 1,500 permanent jobs will be created.

Competition for this plant was very intense among 90 locations and it is a tremendous tribute to our State that the Mississippi site was judged superior to all others. A prime factor in the Army's decision was the excellent leadership so evident in your part of the State. I commend you highly on your contributions to this effort.

After a slower than anticipated start, I am convinced construction will continue on schedule. I look forward to seeing you in the near future.

Most cordially yours,
John C. Stennis
United States Senator

Where are the sanitarians?

They have eyes and see not...
They have ears and hear not...
They have the authority and do not...

I am speaking of the Hancock County Health authorities, the City of Bay St. Louis, Sanitation Department and others who permit unhealthy, unsightly, and unsanitary conditions to prevail without so much as a cry of protest!

A look at the grounds around the Washateria and dividing the land between that establishment and the Mallphoto runs refuse from washings, on top of it floats all manner of trash, litter and cans. In front of it is a dump heap getting more untidy daily. There is also a veritable mountain of trash, garbage and refuse on the service road running near the Riemann Funeral Home. These two outstanding examples may be multiplied throughout our town.

Where is our civic pride? Where are those persons whose responsibility it is to make conditions habitable for those who live in Bay St. Louis?

Sincerely,
Joe Pilet

Trail...

on the banks of Pearl River. Bartram, in his writings of his voyage, said, "Our bark was large, well equipped for sailing and manned with three stout Negroes, to row in case of necessity."

M. James Stevens of Biloxi, coordinator for the trail along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, said he assumes the Frenchman was named Jean Favre, for the people of this name had a home one mile north of Pearlington on the Pearl River in western Mississippi.

"The three generations of them (Favre's) were Indian interpreters, first for the French from 1699, the British after 1764, and the Spanish after 1780," Stevens said.

Fernandez, in his letter on Tuesday, told the supervisors that tracing the trails of the past will play an important part in preserving natural resources.

"There was an art to trailing and to become adept in the art required years of practice."

"Almost all Indians were proficient in this. Some of the best records of American travel in the early days contained the words of those who traveled in America from the time of its first permanent occupation until before the Revolution of 1776."

"These extended journeys were on foot, and the uselessness of horses was predominant except near settlements or on beaten paths."

Park fees...

Beat 5, and board attorney Walter Gex, III.

Topics covered at the session ranged through security, clean-up and maintenance, development, useage, improvements, and responsibilities.

Rental fees for group use of the facility were suggested, along with variations for useage of such items as the ball park by night - where the cost of electric floodlight power must be added, to the need for a restricted entry (guard at gate), and a maximum number of users in the park at any one time.

Other charge considerations concerned a price to include security (deputy sheriff), and a clean-up deposit - returnable if the park was cleaned up within 24 hours following the concerned function.

Further, the park commission asked what expenses were to be considered repayable from the one quarter mill now allocated for park use, and who shall be responsible for its spending.

Commissioners said the Pearl River Basin Development District, under whose auspices the park was built, have informed them that funds are available to complete the swimming pool, an item they anticipate being completed in this calendar year.

Attorney Gex told the commission that they possessed the authority to set fees as they had the total operational management of the facility.

No dark spots...

building in Gulfport. Demolishing of an old hotel on the property is to begin next week.

Richard A. Stuckey of DuPont's Wilmington, Delaware, office talked about the national economy and the outlook for 1978.

Stuckey went into details on comparisons of 1974 through outlooks for '78, '79, and '80. He mentioned the rise in the building of single family homes and the decline in multi-family dwelling last year, stating the trend should continue in 1978.

William Hagerman of International Harvester's Advanced Management Institute of Lake Forest, Illinois explained why his company chose Gulfport as a site for a new plant, to manufacture agricultural and construction equipment, and IH trucks.

Hagerman led off by saying, "Hancock Bank was instrumental in getting International Harvester to settle on Gulfport's Industrial Seaway."

He said the location of the Port of Gulfport, the availability of rail, highway, and an adequate supply of electricity, plus the major availability of labor were also big factors in their site choice.

International Harvester's plant is under construction and will employ 100 people for the construction of 25 h.p. through the largest in tractors in the new $3.6 million plant.

"The Indian trails were the cornerstone of land travel in America. The trails were from twelve to eighteen inches in width and sometimes they led through regions where the native travel was heavy and long. The trails were worn a foot deep, in some instances, by generations of soft moccasins," Fernandez wrote.

Government guidelines on the trail's establishment permit a 50 mile band either side of the supposed route of Bartram, to encompass points of interest offered by the area being traversed.

In Hancock, the proposed route will include the old Pass-Kiln Road, Highway 603, Edwardsville, the Beach, Port Bienville, Pearlington, and other points of interest.

In speaking of the period, Stevens said, "...around the Bay of St. Louis the Saucier, Carrier, Morins, Ladniers, Favre, Necaise, and a few other families lived."

"Going around Hancock County the main travel route into the interior of Mississippi was up the East Pearl River."

"Indian tribes and their descendants remained strong and noticeable, particularly in Hancock County, until the 1930's."

William Bartram remained three days at the Favre home without any improvement in his eye problem.

"The latter suggested an Englishman, a Mr. Rumsey, on Pearl Island 'who had a variety of medicines' about 12 miles away (it is possible that this might be Pearl River Island on west side of East Pearl River at mouth of Mulatto Bayou on which English Lookout was later established)."

"There he stayed for four or five weeks before he recovered sufficiently to stroll about through its shades, venerable groves, and sublime forests, consisting of live oak, and magnolia grandiflora."

"The island is six or seven miles in length and four or five in width, including the salt marshes and plains at the South end of it, washed by Lake Borgne at the Regulets (Rigolets), which is a predominantly composed of banks of sea-shells and sand cast up by the force of winds and the surf of the Lake."

Stevens said he was quoting from Pages 336-338 of Bartram's book, "Travels through North and South Carolina, Georgia, East and West Florida."

He said that Bartram apparently returned through the Mississippi Sound in late November, 1777, a journey of which he records, "...the bay of Pearls, sailing through the Sound betwixt Cat Island and the strand of the continent; the beautiful Bay of St. Louis... continuing through... the oyster banks and shoals of Ship and Horn Islands, and the high and bold coast of Biloxi on the main... got through the narrow pass Aux Christians, and soon came up abreast of Isle Dauphin..."

formerly in the printing business, said chemicals used by the planned printing plant may be hazardous.

"Chemicals used for plating in the printing process are heavier than water, and you cannot get them out with treatment plants," Lyons stated.

"Ingestion of these heavy chemicals by fish may eventually lead to the same problems for us now being experienced by the Japanese-mercury poisoning and birth defects," Lyons added.

Pearl Linda Walters, motel owner and representative of the West Biloxi Merchants Association expressed opposition to the planned discharge of effluent into the Jourdan River by the port commission, as well as the long-range projected regional sewerage plan which also proposes to discharge into the Jourdan River treated wastes from the entire southern Hancock County area through a central Waveland treatment plant.

An objection to the scheduled time of the hearing was voiced by Don Cain: "This is the worst time of day for a meeting of this kind-90 percent of the people interested are working now."

W.A. Aicklen of Bay St. Louis pointed out the ever-growing population of Diamondhead continues to dump its sewage into the Jourdan River. He expressed his opposition to any additional effluents being poured into the stream.

Local civic leader and developer Norton Haas made a plea for a level-headed approach to the conflict between industrial development and environmental preservation.

"We must be calm about this and approach it with reason-there is a common ground we can all walk on," he said.

"I have always supported industrial development in Hancock County 100 percent, but I'm also listening closely to what you who are opposed to this facility are saying here today," Haas continued.

"What we need to do is look very closely at every industry that comes in here to be sure it isn't going to spoil the environment," he added.

"Never before has Hancock County had the opportunity for economic growth that it has now," Haas stated. "We must have faith," he said, that the county can continue its growth without "sinking into the gloom of thinking we'll never hunt and fish again."

"If we are going to have faith, let's have faith that the right kinds of industry will be allowed to come in," said Ms. Joe Pilet, editor of the Sea Coast Heritage Edition.

"We might just be swapping one industry for another," Ms. Pilet said later in pointing out industries which spoil the environment will also destroy the already established tourist industry in the county, as well as sport and commercial fishing industries.

Also strongly opposing the proposal was Allie B. Cospelich, operator of Joe's Bayou Marina; who fears continued increase of effluents will destroy the river in view of the fact "too much fresh water from excessive rain drives out the marine life."

Representing the Gulf Coast Sierra Club in opposition to the proposal was Doris Canal who read a statement from that group's chairman Cyrus Rhodes. Rhodes said the only "environmentally sound" method of discharging effluent into Bayou LaCrosse would be after tertiary treatment.

Ms. Canal said Rhodes' statement in opposition to the proposal was also endorsed by Cyril Laan of Save The Bay, Inc., environmental group which has opposed development of the DuPont plant at DeLisle.

Gus Elmer Jr. of Kiln, former member of the port commission, said he feels a septic tank system installed when the airport was built seven years ago should still be adequate.

"I just can't believe that system is out of date already," Elmer said.

"Pollution has just got to be stopped somewhere; we cannot let it continue," said George Hamby.

"Hancock County has a unique opportunity to stop pollution now," he added, adding the lakes dredged during construction of I-10 "are full of alligators."

"And those alligators aren't hurting anyone, but where will they go if we pollute the lakes," he asked.

"I think you've blown this thing entirely out of proportion," Webre said. "Never before has Hancock County seen the opportunities it sees today," he stated. "We've prayed for these things to happen-we knew there would be problems, but we are not going to run from them."

Webre described the county port commissioners as "not political men but dedicated men," is noting the proposal would not have been made by the commission if it posed a hazard to the river.

Biologist Dieter N. Busch of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Bay St. Louis resident placed that federal agency on record as favoring an upland disposal method.

At the close of the hearing, Elmer said, "I haven't heard anyone here today say that the effluent will not harm the Jourdan River."

"That is what we believe, that the effluent will not harm the river. Otherwise, we would not have made the proposal," Webre retorted.

areas at the Pass High School; replacing roof on the wooden building at the DeLisle Elementary School; repairs to the heating units, cafeteria floors, and a new counselor's office at the Pass Christian Middle School.

Supt. Lizana indicated Education Finance Commission (EFC) funds will be utilized for the work.

Submitting a bid of $10,331, Superior Supply Company of Jackson was awarded contract for one 20 passenger mini-bus to be used to transport students to the hard of hearing program center in Biloxi.

In other action the board agreed: -To permit the use of school facilities for an "Old Fashioned Fiddlin' Contest" sponsored by the band auxiliary for the benefit of the Pass High band;

-To allow Floyd Rayborn to attend an industrial arts clinic, March 9-10 in Starkville;

-To allow Mrs. Anne Stamps, head, Home Economics Department, Pass High School, to be part of a team to evaluate the vocational and home economics departments of Hancock County schools;

-To approve a one day band clinic at the high school;

-To approve contracts for the 1978-'79 term for all four principals.

Hawkettes head for State Class A champion finals

The Hancock North Central Hawkettes were headed for the finals of the State Class A girls' basketball tournament on Thursday after crushing St. Joseph of Jackson, 60-27, in the semi-finals in the Jackson Coliseum.

St. Joseph, which downed the Hancock team in the semi-finals of the South State, was no match for the Hawkettes with 6'2" and 6'0" centers Sheila and Shaynon Ladner netting rebounds under the goal and Joye Nell Lee hitting the basket.

The Hawkettes pounded the Lady Bruins, 17-6, in the first and last two quarters. In the second period, St. Joseph rallied briefly to score nine points to the Hawkettes' nine.

Heading up the scoring for Hancock was 5'8" sophomore Lee, who netted six 18-foot shots, with a total of 17 points. Lee also pulled down 10 rebounds and gave four assists. Junior Shaynon Ladner scored five field goals and five free shots for 15, while sophomore Sheila Ladner finished with 11. Sherie Ladner slipped in five steals.

"We played their game last time," commented Charles Grantham, coach of the HNC girls. "This time we got the lead and were able to play our game." Hawkettes stopped St. Joseph by 20 points in the regular season, before dropping the semi-finals of South State to them last week.

Hancock North Central opened action in the State play-offs with a 56-40 victory over defending champion Pontotoc Wednesday night.

Shaynon Ladner netted 18 points in that contest, while Sheila Ladner added 17. Lee scored 11 points and got five assists and three steals.

"We have as good a chance as anybody of winning the title, but we can't afford an off day," Grantham said.

Grantham, now in his sixth year as Hawkettes coach, is looking forward to an even better season next year when his entire team will be returning. The Hawkettes are 31-5.

Loiacano gives weight-lifting system in book

By SHARON WALLS
A comprehensive study of a successful weight program entitled PUSH-N-PULL, recently written by former Bay High football coach J.E. Loiacano, is now available.

The book details programs and routines beneficial to young athletes, as well as outlining various weight-lifting techniques. The methods have been endorsed by LSU's Don Purvis, world middle weight powerlift champion Joseph "Doc" Rhodes, and Bob Tyler of Mississippi State.

"I feel that football games are actually won in the off-field programs," commented Tyler, with whom Loiacano is working as strength coach for MSU's athletic program. "The well-designed strength system is indispensable."

Information on the book is available from Loiacano at P.O. Box 7092, Gulfport, Ms., 39501.

Tigers cornered by O.S. Hounds

As the temperature dipped to the low 40's, the Bay High Tigers drew their first loss of the season against Ocean Springs, 12-3, Thursday at Tiger Field.

Junior Dwayne Lafontaine got two hits in four times at bat, and Ricky Manieri knocked in two runs on a single hit in three times at bat for the Tigers.

For Ocean Springs, Bob Harwood, Byrd Hillman, and Ricky Daniels knocked in six runs.

Harwood was the starting pitcher for the Hounds, going six innings. He allowed three runs, three hits, walked four and struck out 11. Dewey Gilbert took over for one inning, striking out 2.

Blaine Thomas opened as pitcher for the Tigers. In three innings, he gave up seven runs, three hits and four walks while striking out five. Dwayne Lafontaine pitched through four innings, throwing five runs, four hits, one walk and six strike-outs.

"The key to the game is this: Ocean Springs got four earned runs," commented Coach Claude Yarborough, "but we made 13 errors." Bay High is now 1-1.

Rocks win third of first four

Three runs in the third inning cinched the victory for St. Stanislaus, 6-3, over the Pascagoula junior varsity Wednesday at Rock-a-chaw field.

Senior Greg Hammer, sophomore Perre Cabell and freshman Andrew Haas got three consecutive hits to score the three third inning runs, which put the game away for SSC.

Three RBI's, knocked in by Kerry Corr, Todd Edwards, and Haas gave the Rocks their total.

Kerry Geroux was starting pitcher for the Rocks, throwing four and a part of the fifth inning. Coor, junior, finished the set.

The Rock-a-chaws are 3-1 in four straight home games to open the season.

Complete story and pictures of the Hawkettes' State finals match will be presented in Thursday's SEACOAST ECHO

KILN KORNER

Juanita Bennett

By JUANITA BENNETT
On Tuesday, Feb. 14, the students of Silver Creek School had a Valentine's Day party at their school. Everyone handed out Valentines and had a great time. Also on Monday, Feb. 20, the children went to a circus at St. Johns High School, Gulfport. The circus was sponsored by the Lion's Club. Everyone had popcorn and cokes and really enjoyed the day.

The Annunciations boys' and girls' basketball teams played St. James of Mississippi City in the first game of the Gulf Coast Western Conference tournament. Both our teams won. The girls score was Annunciation 17, St. James 16, and boys' Annunciation 22, St. James 16.

On Monday 20th the youth penance service at Kiln Church was very well attended and very inspirational.

The sixth grade students of Annunciation School are now taking their Civil Defense Course. Ed. Friéaux of Diamondhead Fire Department is their visiting instructor.

The ladies from Annunciation will play North Bay Elementary teachers on March 4th at 7:30 p.m. in the Annunciation gym. After their game, the men will play against the boys of Kiln C.Y.O. Proceeds will go to Annunciation Church.

Happy birthday wishes to Timmy Cameron who will turn 13 on Sunday, Feb. 26.

We are happy to see Mrs. Diane Lacoste and Lyna Holden home from the hospital.

Get well wishes go to Grandpa Singletary who is in Garden Park Hospital in Gulfport. We hope to see him home soon.

Belated Birthday wishes to Father Austin who celebrated his birthday on Wednesday, Feb. 22.

The Librarian at Kiln, Mrs. Norma Fuch, now has the books that are the three best sellers: The Ghost of Flight 401 by John Fuller; A Civil Tongue, by Edwin Newman; A Book of Common Prayer by Joan Didion.

Again, if there is a book you would like to read, call the library at Bay St. Louis, and Norma will bring it to the library in Kiln.

Have a Nice Week!

POWER SAW SAFETY

There is something that makes you feel good about cutting wood for the fireplace or doing maintenance around the home with a power saw. It is hard work that benefits your health as long as you practice safety.

There are many hazards that you must deal with when using a chain saw. The cutting chain is the main hazard.

Even experienced saw operators become victims when they momentarily forget the unpredictable biting, cutting power of these machines.

Kickback is an upward jump or jerk of the saw that may cause it to attack the upper part of your body. Kickback happens when the blade tip contacts a limb or starts to grab in a cut and throws the saw toward the operator.

To avoid kickback, keep the blade tip out of the wood and away from limbs; keep the chain sharp and tight. Also keep control of the saw throttle. Don't relax; be ready for kickback.

Operators are sometimes cut by saws when they are making a downward cut, and the saw quickly cuts through the wood and strikes the victim's legs or feet. Cut well away from your feet and legs. When starting your saw, hold it on the ground with the chain away from you. Do not start or operate a saw while on a ladder or in any unstable position. Also, do not saw above shoulder height.

Check your operators manual for more information on chain saw safety.

THE FIZZLE FAMILY

Grain reserve program is now available in Hancock

Beginning March 1, farmers will no longer have to wait for their 1977 crop barley, oats, and wheat loans to mature, or for their purchase agreements to expire, to participate in the grain reserve program, according to James O. Ladner and B. Dossett, Pearl River and Hancock Counties chairmen of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committees.

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has announced that starting March 1, these 1977-crops may be placed immediately into the grain reserve. Early entry of the 1977-crop corn and sorghum will be announced later, they said.

The grain reserve program serves as a new marketing tool for farmers. Instead of selling their grain at low market prices, farmers can place it in the reserve program, receive storage payments, and wait for prices to increase.

"By using the reserve to isolate supplies from the marketplace when they are excessive, farmers are helping to get grain prices up," Dossett said.

Under the program, farmers enter into a contract with the government for a three-year period, and receive annually, in advance, a storage payment of 20 cents per bushel for wheat, corn, sorghum, and barley, and 15 cents per bushel for oats. Farmers, in return must agree to hold their grain off the market at least until the price reaches an established level or the contract expires.

Farmers with 1976-crop barley, oats and wheat not yet under loan may file a purchase agreement by Feb. 28, 1978, obtain a loan and immediately enter the reserve. The final date to obtain a loan and become eligible to enter the reserve on 1977-crop barley, oats and wheat is March 31, 1978.

The change in the farm storage facility loan program will increase the amount of storage for which reserve program participants may qualify.

"Under the change, a farmer will be able to obtain a loan for storage structures to store two years' crop production, however, in determining eligibility, existing capacity used to store grain in the reserve program will be excluded," Dossett said.

Previously, in determining eligibility, all existing facilities were included.

For more information on the farmer-held reserve program, contact the local ASCS office.

Pecan growers to have meet

Approximately 500 pecan growers representing Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Florida will gather here March 5-7 for the annual Southeastern Pecan Growers Association convention, announced Dr. Richard Mullenax, horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The meeting will be headquartered at the Broadwater Beach. Registration begins at 11 a.m. Sunday, March 5.

"Conventions are educational bargains in the pecan industry," said Ray Bass of Lumberton, convention chairman.

"Growers have an opportunity to share experiences not only with growers from the Southeast, but with growers from as far as New Mexico and Arizona. They receive data and learn about new techniques which can be adapted to their own operations," he added.

Program topics will cover soil conditions in the Southeast, reports on the use and application methods of various insecticides and fungicides and their effectiveness, disease resistant varieties and many other topics of vital interest to growers.

During the three-day educational program, 46 speakers representing Extension Services, Experiment Research Stations and industries directly related to the pecan industry will cover 24 aspects of pecan production.

Cotton cut asked for '78 year

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation today urged U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland to exercise authority vested in his office by the present farm act to require cotton producers to reduce their cotton acreage for 1978 by up to 20 percent of '77 plantings.

Federation president Hugh M. Arant of Ruleville issued a statement at the conclusion of a leadership conference of county Farm Bureau presidents and other county leaders in Jackson Thursday.

Arant said the executive committee of the federation wanted the ag secretary to know that cotton farmers are aware that surplus production has caused cotton prices to deteriorate and that they are willing to reduce their production without the promise of set-aside acreage payments.

"Mississippi farmers do not believe that the voluntary approach to acreage reduction will work this year, and to make sure acreage is reduced sufficiently to restore profitable prices they want the secretary to use his authority under the present law."

The recommendation for mandatory acreage reduction falls within policies adopted by the federation at their annual meeting which call for steps to be taken to restore profit in farm enterprises.

If the secretary declares a mandatory cotton acreage reduction program he already is vested with enforcement power through eligibility requirements for participation in the target price and loan programs of the Farm Act of 1977.
